National Convention Prospects.

The reader may have observed in our New York letter of yesterday, that it is getting to be a pretty general New York opinion that Chase will scarcely be thought of, but at the same time that Mr. Pendleton will be postponed. Of course New York always considers itself the country; but it does not turn out so all the time. A little more healthy "public sentiment" will go up to New York, with the name of Pendleton, so that city has held for a long time. If the Herald and the World can succeed in overthrowing Mr. Pendleton, we "rather guess" that the friends of the latter will, at least, be sanguine enough to control the nominations, and will not let the Democracy "go to pieces" on financial adventures for the sake of the man! We have every assurance that Mr. Pendleton will be either overwhelmingly nominated, or will quickly stand aside for the preservation of Democratic integrity.

We do not require any prestige in the person of our candidate. We rely on the Constitution, and the principles upon which it was founded, to give us a nation.
